ISLE SOVEREIGNTY

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT WON'T DEAL WITH IT.

LEFT TO STATE DEPARTMENT

ISLE OF PINES PROBLEM INTRICATE ONE.

AMERICANS ARE ANXIOUS

Mesdames Taft and Bacon Hold Reception in Palace, Which Is Attended by Several Hundred Cubans and Others—Taft Gives Dinner.

HAVANA, Oct. 11.—The provisional government will have nothing to do with the question of the sovereignty of the Isle of Pines, or with the separation of the government of the island from the rest of the republic of Cuba. The executive authority of the United States has already declared that the Isle of Pines belongs to Cuba and has embodied that affirmation in a treaty conceding the sovereignty of the island of Cuba, and this treaty is now pending ratification in the American senate. The entire matter being one for the adjudication of the state department, the provisional government will not mix therein.

Mode May Be Altered.

The mode of government of the Isle of Pines, as part of the Cuban republic, may be altered or amended, but the desire of Americans in the Isle of Pines for territorial or municipal government as part of the United States, cannot be conceded by any act on the part of the provisional government of Cuba, or the war department.

The president of the American Association of the Isle of Pines has not yet interviewed Governor Taft on this matter, but the most that is likely to be gained will be the placing of an American military officer as temporary governor of the Isle, in lieu of the present Cuban mayor, with whom the relations of the American residents have not been pleasant.

Americans Anxious.

The American residents of the Isle have adopted a resolution exonerating Secretary Taft and General [illegible] Wood from all blame in connection with the turning over of the Isle to Cuba, and they feel that this step ought to open the way to negotiations for insuring the Isle American property. They consider the present condition of affairs opportune for securing a settlement of the matter which they believe may hang fire indefinitely in the United States senate.

Governor Taft has decided that the pay of the Cuban senators and congressmen stopped October 1, when the Palma government ceased. He will decree the congress to be in recess until the question of its status is settled.

Held Reception.

Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Bacon held a reception this evening in the palace. It was attended by several hundred Cubans and others, including almost all the army and navy officers here. The municipal band played American and Cuban airs in the park opposite the palace during the reception, which was informal and enjoyable.

Governor Taft gave a dinner in the palace to the naval officers.

The battleship Louisiana will leave here Saturday afternoon for Norfolk with Governor Taft and his party on board. The Louisiana will be accompanied by the battleship Virginia with General Funston on board. The battleship New Jersey and the cruiser Minneapolis will sail for the north tomorrow, followed by the cruiser Newark. The Brooklyn and Texas will remain here.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—It is said here that the original intention was to have Governor [illegible] when he reaches the Philippines, take up in addition to the duties of vice governor general and member of the Philippine commission, the duties of the portfolios of the minister of finance and education. Secretary Taft thinks these posts should be filled at the earliest possible moment because of their importance.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—Jacob Sleeper, late American charge of the legation at Havana arrived in Washington today and called upon Secretary Root to tell of the state of affairs in Cuba when he left there. Mr. Sleeper has been transferred to Caracas as secretary of legation. Meanwhile it is the intention to allow the place at Havana to remain vacant.

By Order of President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The detail of General J. Franklin Bell to command the American military forces in Cuba, was made directly by the president, and the reason for that order as stated by competent authority here, was that by his administration as military governor of the province of Batangas, one of the most turbulent of the Philippine subdivisions just after the crisis had been reached in the Aguinaldo rebellion, General Bell showed such a combination of the best qualities of the soldier and the diplomatist that his selection was deemed expedient to undertake similar duties in Cuba.

It is further stated that General Funston has fulfilled his entire mission to the satisfaction of the war department.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 11.—Jane Mitchell, colored, aged 110 years, died here today from burns caused by her clothing catching fire. Her husband died a short time ago at the age of 100 [illegible]

HAS PROMISED TO TELL ALL

Mrs. Snyder Is Silent Before District Attorney Allen.

HILLSBORO, Ore., Oct. 11.—District Attorney Allen, of Washington county, sitting as a grand jury, held a secret investigation into the Carey M. Snyder murder case today, Mrs. Snyder being the only witness.

In brief, Mrs. Snyder would only say that her husband mysteriously disappeared December [illegible] 1905, under circumstances which led her to believe he was murdered. It is said no questions could induce Mrs. Snyder to make any statement on what she based her suspicions. There is an apparently reliable report that when the adjourned hearing takes place next Saturday Mrs. Snyder has promised to tell everything she knows on the subject of her husband's murder.

DENOUNCES STOLYPIN.

Constitutional Democratic Congress Adjourns After This Action.

HELSINGFORS, Oct. 11.—The Constitutional Democratic congress adjourned this evening. At the concluding session a pronunciamento denouncing Premier Stolypin's administration and all its works, which was proposed by the central committee in an endeavor toplacate the extremists, was adopted by acclamation amid great enthusiasm.

QUARRELED WITH WIFE

BROUWER HAD THREATENED TO SUE FOR DIVORCE.

Sister of Dead Woman Offers Testimony in Trial of Dr. Brouwer for Murder.

TOMS RIVER, N. J., Oct. 11.—That there had been quarrels between Dr. Frank Brouwer and his wife, and that Dr. Brouwer had said that he intended to sue for a divorce, was the testimony given today by Miss Elizabeth Hyer, sister of the woman for whose alleged murder the doctor is on trial.

Miss Hyers testified that her brother-in-law had told her that incompatibility of temper made it impossible for him and his wife to live happily together, and that he proposed to sue for a divorce. According to Miss Hyer, this was said by the doctor more than four years ago.

Surrogate Grovan of Ocean county, testified today that the defendant filed an affidavit before him on December 22 last, in which it was stated that Mrs. Brouwer's estate was valued at $4,000, and that Dr. Brouwer and his two children were the [illegible]. The [illegible] ing of the surrogate on the stand was regarded as an attempt on the part of the prosecution to establish a motive for the alleged crime.

Just before adjournment was taken for the day, Judge Hendrickson caused surprise when he ordered the jury to stand up and declared that he had heard they had been talking to persons in the streets about the case. He said that if he heard of any more such action on the part of the jury, he would order an investigation with a view of having the guilty persons punished.

HEARST ISSUES STATEMENT

Gives Attitude of League on Nonpartisan Judiciary Nominations in New York.

CORNING, N. Y., Oct. 11.—After a journey of nearly ten hours across the boundaries of three states, Mr. Hearst and his campaign party arrived in Corning this evening and began in earnest his fourth up-state trip, which is scheduled to last ten days. Most of the journey across Pennsylvania was through a driving snowstorm, and Mr. Hearst's re-entry upon the soil of New York state was upon a wintry scene of snow clad hills and roads.

Mr. Hearst issued on the train a statement regarding the attitude of the Independence League on the subject of nonpartisan judiciary nominations in New York city, declaring the action of the league in the matter would depend largely upon the character of the nominations made tonight by the Republican county committee. In the course of his remarks Mr. Hearst spoke of John McDonald's announcement that he would support Mr. Hughes in spite of having been a life-long Democrat. "Another guarantee of Mr. Hughes' sincerity," said Mr. Hearst, "is John B. McDonald. He is the man who built the New York subway at great profit, and had one succession of strike and labor difficulties from the time he began until it ended. Mr. McDonald declares for Mr. Hughes, flourishes the check in support of Mr. Hughes, and says he is against me because I am an enemy of union labor."

TO ESTABLISH RIFLE CLUBS

Commander Spanish-American War Veterans Consults President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Captain Hamilton Ward, Jr., the newly-elected commander-in-chief of the United Spanish-American War veterans, accompanied by John Lewis Smith, the newly-elected adjutant general of the organization, called on President Roosevelt today.

Captain Ward talked with the president about the proposition to establish rifle clubs among the veterans of the Spanish war and to create the veterans into something like an assembly reserve at least a nucleus that might be used by the United States in case of war. The question will be taken up by Captain Ward.

The matter of closer relations with the Grand Army of the Republic also will be given careful attention by the new administration of the Spanish War veterans.

ANNEXED TO U. S.

GUATEMALAN REFUGEES APPEAL TO PRESIDENT.

CONDITIONS UNSATISFACTORY

WANT ANNEXATION WITH U. S. BROUGHT ABOUT.

PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED

Alludes to Star and Stripes as Floating Over Cuba, Which Will Soon Be Annexed to the U. S. Roosevelt Should Do the Same for Guatemala.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11.—Dissatisfied with the existing conditions in their country, Guatemalan political refugees have appealed to President Roosevelt to bring about annexation of that republic to the United States. A proclamation has been issued by the revolutionary junta in New Orleans, and copies are being circulated in the City of Mexico by the opponents of President Cabrera. The proclamation is as follows:

"To the People—The stars and stripes, the emblem of civilization, order and progress, is at this moment proudly waving over the land of Marti, Maceo and Maximo Gomez. The republic of Cuba will in the very near future be annexed to the United States.

"President Roosevelt ought to do the same with Guatemala. Over 10,000 of honest Guatemalans have had to abandon their homes on account of revolutions which almost daily are started to overthrow the famous tyrant, Estrada Cabrera.

"We want Guatemala to belong to the United States of North America.

(Signed) "Several Guatemalan emigrants.

POLICE RAID REVOLUTIONISTS

Surround Building and Arrest Fifty Present at Meeting.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 11.—The police tonight raided a meeting of revolutionists in a girls' High school in the Va[illegible] district of St. Petersburg. They surrounded the building, arrested [illegible] participants in the meeting and secured in addition many important revolutionary documents. The recent wholesale domiciliary visits to the best quarter of St. Petersburg and the arrests of many students and others have created a panic in revolutionary circles, as it is not known what papers and records have come into the possession of the police. This High school has been for some time past a regular meeting place of the revolutionists, as there they have been secure from police intervention.

BLAME PREMIER FOR TROUBLE

Forcing Fight to Obtain Revenge on American Fishermen.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 11.—The cabinet met tonight to consider the advisability of a policy of pronouncement against the modus vivendi between the British and American governments, relative to the Newfoundland fisheries. Leading fish merchants also met tonight and adopted resolutions adverse to the modus vivendi.

The organ of the organization blames the premier for the whole trouble, declaring that the people of this colony do not want to quarrel with Americans, and that the premier is forcing the fight to obtain revenge upon American fishermen, because his reciprocity project was blocked.

"CALIFORNIA" HAS ACCIDENT

Engine of Big Cruiser Disabled While Making Record Run—Crew Escapes Injury.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 11.—Owing to an unfortunate accident to her port engine, the cruiser California failed in her endurance run today when the vessel had been under way for two and one-half of the four hours required.

Up to the time the engine was disabled, the California had been making considerably better than the required 22 knots, and had everything gone smoothly there is no doubt that the ship would have established a new record for armored cruisers.

That no one was injured at the time the trouble occurred is little short of miraculous. A parting piece of the intermediate crank pin bearing the port engine was forced out, the heavy steel shield being crumpled up like paper and hurled directly across the platform where several men had been standing a moment before. The water pipes were knocked about and other minor damage was done before the engine could be stopped.

At the time the accident occurred the California was going about 22.2 knots an hour, which speed she had averaged all along.

GUESTS OF THE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. Secretary and Mrs. Hitchcock and Associate Justice and Mrs. Holmes of the United States supreme court were guests of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt at dinner tonight.

DUEL BETWEEN GAMBLERS

Pistols Used and Both Are Shot One May Die.

DENVER, Oct. 11.—James Thornton and A. E. Hoffsess, gamblers, engaged in a pistol duel in the offices of the Inter-Ocean Brokerage company on Curtis street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets this afternoon, and Thornton received a wound in the abdomen which may prove fatal. He is now at St. Luke's hospital. Hoffsess was shot in the right wrist. Thornton walked nearly a block to a drug store and fell exhausted in the doorway. Hoffsess awaited the coming of the police and submitted to arrest.

Hoffsess was recently discharged from the employ of the Inter-Ocean company, and Thornton had succeeded him. Bad feeling resulted and when the men met today it culminated in a duel. Both are old-timers in Denver and have families.

FROST DAMAGES COTTON

Oklahoma and Indian Territory Suffer Some Loss.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Oct. 11.—Advices from important cotton sections of Oklahoma and Indian Territory are to the effect that the crop was materially damaged by this week's frost. The crop was practically made, but much of the cotton has not yet matured and the plant in that state was killed.

SEARCH FOR SILVEIRA

ALL PORTS IN THE WORLD ARE NOTIFIED BY CABLE.

Havana Banker, Accused of Absconding with Funds of New York Company, Still at Large.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Cablegrams to all ports in the world were sent out today asking the authorities to keep watch for Manuel Silveira, the Havana banker, who is accused of having absconded with more than $1,000,000, thereby causing the assignment in this city of the banking and commission house of Juan M. Ceballos & Co., which failed on Wednesday last, with liabilities between three and four millions.

It was announced that Silveira is not on board the steamer Carmelina, in which he and his family sailed from Cuba. It was said [illegible] present where abouts of the Carmelina is known, and the destination of the other [illegible] er to which it is said Silveira and his family were transferred two days out from Havana, has been [illegible].

William V. Rowe, receiver of the wrecked firm, said today that every effort was made to apprehend Silveira, who he said was a close personal friend of President Castro of Venezuela, and had important financial relations with the head of the South American republic. Detectives have been employed to run down Silveira, Mr. Rowe said, and their opinion is that the Cuban banker will strain every nerve to reach Venezuela. It is understood that detectives have already sailed from New York for Havana, from which place they will take up the search.

William Nelson Cromwell, of Cromwell & Sullivan, counsel for the receiver of Ceballos & Co., today stated that the money taken by Silveira included $300,000 which he had collected from the Cuban government on treasury warrants. Ceballos & Co. were heavy purchasers of these warrants, which were issued to the Cuban veterans after the close of the Spanish-American war. Some $110,000 additional uncollected warrants were found in Silveira's safe, according to advices received today by the Ceballos firm from [illegible], who is acquitted of any knowledge of Silveira's wrongdoing.

In addition to the $1,000,000 alleged to have been taken by Silveira, [illegible],000 additional is now said to have been found missing from outside accounts.

Silveira sent a letter to Seola, his partner, before sailing, stating he had sailed for parts unknown.

SOLE OBJECT TO SAVE WOMAN

Gen. Ouchakoff Claims He Has No Desire to Kill the Man Who Wronged Him.

HAVRE, France, Oct. 11.—M. Sotl, a friend of General Ouchakoff, of the Russian army (who arrived here yesterday from New York on the steamer LaProvence, in pursuit of his wife, who is fleeing from her husband in company of Lieutenant Essipoff), spent the night with him at the Russian consulate here. Acting as the general's spokesman today, M. Sotl declared that Ouchakoff was overcome by the publicity given to the case, which "outrageously represents him as on a bloodthirsty chase for the life of Lieutenant Essipoff."

"The general," M. Sotl continued, "has no desire to kill the man who wronged him. He is convinced that his wife, who was confined in an asylum in Russia, is crazy, and his sole object is to save the woman from the consequences of her folly, and to take her back to Russia, where she will be cared for and avoid further scandal."

FREE DISTRIBUTION OF SEEDS

Frowned on by Farmers National Congress.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Oct. 11.—Free distribution of seeds by congress was frowned on in a resolution adopted by the Farmers National congress today. It recommended that the money thus spent be devoted to investigating agricultural methods in foreign lands and introducing them here through agricultural schools. Other resolutions urged the consolidation of third and fourth class mail matter, with a reduction in the rate to eight cents per [illegible]

APPEAL TO REASON

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON ADDRESSES COUNCIL.

URGES RESPECT FOR THE LAW

"BE GOVERNED BY REASON RATHER THAN FEELING."

WEED OUT CRIMINAL ELEMENT

Says Colored Race Has Its Friends. Advises Magnifying Efforts of Friends in Their Behalf, More Than Those of Persons Who Wish Them Evil.

New York, Oct. 11.—The annual session of the National Afro-American council, which has been in progress here, was brought to a close tonight with services in Zion church.

Booker T. Washington made the principal address. He said in part:

"In the season of disturbance and excitement, if others yield to the temptation of losing control of their judgment and give way to passion and prejudice, let us, as a race, teach the world that we have learned the great lesson of calmness and self-control, that we are determined to be governed by reason rather than by feeling. Our victories in the past have come to us through our ability to be calm and patient, often while enduring great wrong.

Respect the Law.

"If others would break the law and trample it under foot, let us keep and respect it, and teach our children to follow our example. In this connection I repeat what I have uttered on a recent occasion, every iota of influence that we possess should be used to get rid of the criminal and loafing element of our people and to make decent, law-abiding citizens.

"To the members of my race who reside in the northern states let me utter the caution, that in your enthusiastic desire to be of service to your brethren in the south you do not make their path more thorny and difficult by rash and intemperate [illegible] ing advice to the negro in the south. The negro in the north [illegible] that what he [illegible] is that which he [illegible] heart of the south and put into practice [illegible] lighting a fire which you will have no ability to put out.

"Some may think that the problem with which we are grappling would be better solved by inducing millions of our people to leave the south for residence in the north, but I warn you [illegible] of this being a solution it will but add to the complications of the problem.

"The indiscriminate condemnation of all white people on the part of any member of our race is a suicidal and dangerous policy. We must learn to discriminate. We have strong friends in the south and in the north, and we should emphasize and magnify the efforts of our friends more than that of those who wish us evil. The country must also learn to differentiate between black people. It is a mistake to place all in the same class when it is [illegible] relating to labor, morality or general conduct. There is a vicious class that [illegible]; there is also a worthy class which should always receive commendation. Further, we must frankly face the fact that the great body of our people are to dwell in the south, and any policy that does not aim to harmonize the two races and [illegible] them is unwise and dangerous.

"Creation, construction in the material, civic, educational, moral and religious world, is what makes races great. Any child can cry and fret, but it requires a full grown man to create, to construct."

LONE BANDIT HOLDS UP STAGE

Takes Express Box and Money From Passengers at Point of Gun Search Instituted.

TONOPAH, Nev., Oct. 11.—Word has been received here that the stage between Manhattan and Round Mountain was held up by a lone bandit in broad daylight at 10 o'clock this morning at a point two miles from Round Mountain.

The bandit secured the express box and all the driver and one passenger had. It is stated at Manhattan that the express box contained the payroll funds of the Wilson placer and other mining properties at Round Mountain, $5,000 in all. It is also stated that there was but $700 in the box and $50 on the men.

The bandit was walking on the road in front of the stage. He whirled around when it came up, pointed two guns and forced the driver to throw out the box. The driver and passenger were unarmed. Posses are now out from Round Mountain and Manhattan.

OLD OFFICERS ELECTED

Annual Business Meeting Occupies Mission Board.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Oct. 11.—The annual business meeting of the American board of foreign missions occupied the attention of the board delegates at this afternoon's session of the convention. With one exception all the old officers were re-elected.

DEMOCRATS VS. ARISTOCRATS

Always Two Parties in All Countries, Says Bryan.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 11.—W. J. Bryan addressed several thousand people for an hour and a half in Central park this afternoon. Mr. Bryan was introduced by Mayor Blinn, and said in part:

"At all times and in all countries there are two parties—the democratic and the aristocratic. One of these parties is for the people and the other is against them. In the last year I have visited nearly every country of the world and find these two parties everywhere. And in every country the democratic party is growing stronger and the aristocratic party growing weaker. Aristocracy is gradually dying out of the world. In this country there is one party that is much nearer to the people than the other. And that is the Democratic party."

At the close of his speech the people thronged about Mr. Bryan's carriage to grasp his hand.

SPENDS COMFORTABLE DAY

Condition of Mrs. Jefferson Davis Reported Improved.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—At the Majestic hotel tonight it was stated that Mrs. Jefferson Davis, who has been ill for several days, was much improved. It was said that Mrs. Davis had spent a very comfortable day.

EAST HAS COLD WAVE

FREEZING WEATHER REPORTED IN THE VIRGINIAS.

Cold Snap Is Accompanied in Many Sections by a Fall of Snow, Of Short Duration.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—A cold wave swept over the east and south today and broke all records for this season in many sections, but tonight the weather bureau announced that while the temperature would not only slightly tomorrow, there will be warmer weather Saturday and by Sunday favorable temperatures will again prevail east and south. In many sections the severe cold snap was accompanied by snow fall, and a storm of rain and sleet, that raged in upper New York state particularly caused great damage. Down along the Blue Ridge [illegible] in the two Virginias was the coldest of the [illegible] at Mount Airy the [illegible] freezing while four [illegible] was [illegible] at Elkins, W. Va. [illegible] the Superior [illegible]. The official forecast [illegible].

The [illegible] in the [illegible] region has abated, although a disturbed condition still exists in the St. Lawrence valley and New England. A barometric depression of great extent overlies nearly the whole of the Rocky mountain and plateau region, the region of lowest pressure being south of [illegible]. In eastern districts, an area of high pressure and extremely cold weather continues to be the dominating feature.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The storm of snow and sleet which swept over this section last night and today was the worst in many years. Telegraph, telephone and trolley lines were prostrated in all directions. Whole orchards of peach trees and small fruits were crushed to the ground by the wet snow which fell steadily for many hours. Tonight the weather is clear and cold.

Buffalo bore the brunt of the storm. The damage in this city alone is not far from a quarter of a million dollars, and two deaths occurred which were directly due to the effects of the storm. All night the telephone and electric light systems were paralyzed. The streets were littered with broken [illegible]

HUGHES ON PRESENT ISSUE

Not Since Civil War Has There Been Such an Issue as Now.

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Charles E. Hughes, the Republican nominee for governor spent today in Ontario county. At Geneva, the arrival of the Hughes train was marked by the booming of cannon and the playing of bands. From there he came to this place.

Among other things, he said:

"I do not like to hear talk in this country about classes, and the people will not long stand any attempt to create class feeling.

"We want no assumption of superiority; we want no suggestion of the 'I am holier than thou' sort.

"I take no stock in the notion that there is a so-called better class with superior morality, with better examples of virtuous living.

"Nothing is more reprehensible in the United States than an appeal to passion.

"We have heard in financial circles of a system. We have seen evidences in the last year of men holding honorable places yielding to temptation because their sense of responsibility was benumbed. We want an assertion of American manhood.

"Not since the Civil war has there been such an issue as now; never before that I know of has there been an attempt through newspapers established in different communities to focus the whole attention of the country upon alleged wrongs and create discontent, envy and hatred and arouse the worst passions of the multitude. That is the menace to this country and there is the menace we propose to deal with on election day."

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Three were killed and a dozen others injured [illegible] by an explosion and fire in the [illegible] railroad [illegible]

STANDARD TRIAL

EVIDENCE OF VIOLATION IS BROUGHT OUT.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST TRADE

F. T. CUTHBERT GIVES DAMAGING TESTIMONY.

METHODS OF MANHATTAN CO.

Does Not Compete With Standard, but Does Compete With Independent Companies. A General Industrial Development Company.

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 11.—Evidence was brought out by the state today in the trial of the Standard Oil company of Ohio for conspiracy against trade, showing the ownership of the Manhattan Oil company of Ohio to be in the General Industrial Development company, limited, of London. Also that the Manhattan, which buys pipes and crude oil, does not compete with the Standard, but does compete with independent companies.

These facts were brought out in the testimony of F. T. Cuthbert, president of the Manhattan. A similar criminal suit to that on trial is pending against his company, and he testified under an order of the court, which made him immune from future criminal prosecution. This course was taken at the suggestion of the prosecution, upon the appeal of Mr. Cuthbert to the court for protection.

Summoned to Bring Books.

The witness had been [illegible] ordered to bring the [illegible] of his company, showing the record of [illegible] ers' meetings. The [illegible] duced. The [illegible] meeting showed that Mr. [illegible] been elected [illegible] power of attorney [illegible] by the English [illegible] at this company [illegible] [illegible] its controller.

Nature of Business.

Explaining the nature of the business done by the Manhattan, Cuthbert said that before he became its president the company did a general oil business, that it owned producing property, pipe lines and a refinery at [illegible], O. It had disposed of all its pipe lines to the [illegible] Oil company, [illegible] he did not [illegible] operating the refinery at [illegible]. The Manhattan company now does exclusively a pipe line business. In doing so, it buys the oil of the producers, transports it to storage [illegible] sells it to S. P. [illegible], agent of the Standard, who also buys oil from Joseph Seep, purchaser for the Buckeye Pipe Line company. In what is known as the South Lima field, where the Manhattan and Buckeye both buy oil, the price paid to the producer is five cents a barrel less than in the North Lima field, where [illegible] are regarded as the independent [illegible] make their purchases.

Is [illegible]

Asked why this was, Mr. Cuthbert said: "To protect our pipe lines [illegible] the encroachment of competitors."

"Who are your [illegible]" [illegible] States Attorney Phel[illegible].

"The National Refining company, of Findlay and the Paragon company of Toledo."

"Do you pay five cents a barrel [illegible] for oil in the North Lima [illegible] you receive for it from the [illegible] purchasing agency?"

"Yes."

Mr. Cuthbert then admitted that the profits of his company in the North Lima field were very small, if any.

Prosecutor David asked the witness about the purchases in the Indian territory covered by the pipe lines of the company. He said the Sun [illegible] company and the Indiana [illegible] company were competitors in that field, but the price there was the regular market price.

The witness said his company bought oil for transportation at the [illegible] of the Ohio company, and in doing so did the business with F. S. [illegible], its secretary at Oil City, Pa.

Preliminary Skirmish.

In the preliminary skirmish regarding the interpretation of the immunity clause of the Dever law, the court ruled that the witness would have to [illegible] specific objection to some question which he held would tend to criminate him if he answered. The question to which witness objected was, "[illegible] does your company keep its [illegible] showing the record of proceedings of the last stockholders' meeting."

The state had Frank C. Shook, a deputy county auditor of [illegible] county, sworn. He testified [illegible] tax certificates on file in the auditor's office, [illegible] Ohio, the Buckeye [illegible] Ohio Oil [illegible].

SON OF VICE PRESIDENT WEDS

Affair Was Secret and Causes No Little Surprise—Less Than a Year's Courtship.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 11.—Announcement is made here that Frederick Cole Fairbanks, son of the vice president, eloped from Pittsburg with Helen E. Scott, and coming here, they were married. It is stated that Mr. Fairbanks objected to the marriage. The bride is a daughter of a prominent east side resident in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 11.—Miss Nellie Scott is the highly accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Scott, who are prominent in east end society. Mr. Fairbanks is a young business man of [illegible]field, O., where the couple will make their home.

The marriage is the result of a [illegible] courtship of less than a year's [illegible]. When Miss Scott returned [illegible] about a month ago from visiting [illegible] in Ind[illegible] it was understood among intimate friends that the [illegible] would be announced early in October and the marriage take place [illegible]. The young couple have [illegible] communication with the Scott household, and it is learned they will return tonight.

Up to a late hour tonight the Scott residence was dark, with no one but the servants about the house.

It is learned from intimate friends of the family that there was no elopement, the unusual wedding being carried out merely for romantic reasons and the desire of the young people to escape a big wedding ceremony.

ROHE CLEARS BASES WITH A TIMELY TRIPLE.

HAHN MEETS WITH ACCIDENT

Is Struck With Terrific Force by a Pitched Ball While at Bat and Compelled to Desert the Field With a Broken Nose.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 11.—Today's game between the Chicago teams of the American and National league teams was a battle royal between pitchers, and the Americans won, 3 to 0. Twenty-one batsmen struck out and for twelve of these the credit goes to Walsh. In addition, he gave only one pass and allowed but two hits. Thereafter the Nationals, until the ninth inning, had no chance to score. According to the official count, 13,750 enthusiasts, encouraged by slightly warmer weather, were present when the game began. Pfeister, the left-handed pitcher, went into the box for the Nationals. His control at first was good, but by no means perfect. He quickly steadied, however, and pitched superbly until the sixth inning. It was here he went to pieces and the game was lost. Tannehill, reputed to be a weak batter, singled down the third base line. Somewhat disconcerted, Pfeister allowed Walsh to walk and a moment later hit Hahn in the nose, breaking it. A doctor was called, and O'Neill went to first for Hahn and finished the game for him.

The bases were now filled with nobody out. A pandemonium of cheers from American league sympathizers broke loose. Pfeister pulled himself together, and there was a sigh of relief from the National league supporters when Captain Jones fouled out to Kling. Isbell, one of the team's best batsmen ordinarily, struck out for the third time during the game. Then came Rohe, the substitute, to bat. It was this light-haired young man whose accidental presence by reason of Davis' illness in Tuesday's game brought victory to the Americans. Again the fate of the game depended on him, and again he did not fail. He waited patiently for a ball that suited him, and swung with all his strength. The ball bounded like a jackrabbit down the third base line and under the benches in left field. Tannehill, Walsh and O'Neill crossed the plate amidst wild cheering and the noise of many megaphones, while the author of the scores stood on third base receiving the congratulations of his team mates. Donohue sent a weak fly to [illegible] and the agony was over.

On their part, the Nationals started out like winners. In the first Hoffman sent a clean single to center. Sheckard struck out and then Hoffman killed all chances to score by trying to steal second, when he was thrown out. The next man, Schulte, doubled to left, but it did no good, for Chance went out, Isbell to Donohue. Thereafter, till the ninth, the Nationals never gave a hint of designs on the home plate. Walsh held them completely at his mercy, apparently growing stronger and steadier every inning. When the game began the Nationals swung viciously at his offerings, but before the contest was half over they were fishing for the ball, seemingly trying merely to touch it. Any kind of a hit would have looked good, but mostly when they did not strike out they rolled puny grounders to second or short, and were easily out.

In the ninth Gessler went to bat for Pfeister and reached first because [illegible] fumbled his grounder for a moment. Hoffman went out via Isbell, Gessler reaching second. Sheckard for the second time missed three good ones. Gessler beat Sullivan's throw to third, because the catcher juggled the ball for a moment. A hit meant a run, but Schulte became a victim of Walsh's curves, and the third game of the world's championship series was over.

It took a large force of policemen to protect Walsh and Rohe from their frenzied admirers, who thronged into the field, but they finally reached their carriages without being hoisted on anybody's shoulders.

Evers, Tinker and Tannehill divided the fielding honors.

THE EVE OF BATTLE

UTAH AND COLORADO COLLEGE ON QUI VIVE.

Intercollegiate Championship Season Opens Tomorrow—Great Gridiron Game Expected.

The squad from the Utah football camp will reach town tonight over the Rio Grande at 7:20, in perfect trim for the first intercollegiate battle with Colorado college Saturday on Washburn field. The squad numbers eighteen, exclusive of Manager J. V. Brown, all heavy, fast men, with several weeks' more training than the locals.

Manager McClintock gave out the statement that the local team is in very much improved condition and will put up a grueling contest with the Mormons before giving up, and if the Mormons should happen to win they will know that they have been in a real game of gridiron sport. Little is known of the ability of the eleven from the mountains, as it has played no regular game up to the present, and it has yet to show up its strong and weak points. This much is certain. The Utah boys have been at the game so much longer than the locals that it is likely they will have more experience on the field. What is more, the Michigan coach, Maddox, will endeavor to have his men trained to the minute, as he is anxious to prove that Michigan methods are superior to those of Wisconsin. Coach Richards comes from Wisconsin.

It is now practically settled that the referee for the big game will be C. Henry Smith of Brown '99, and Dave May, Dartmouth's great captain of last year, will umpire. The linesman will probably be Castleman, coach of the University of Colorado. Many Boulder and Denver enthusiasts will be among the spectators to get a line on both elevens. The halves will be the regulation thirty-minute periods.

Seats for the game are on sale at the Colorado & Southern city ticket office and at Strang's athletic goods store. Tickets of admission can be purchased for 50 cents if bought in advance of the day of the game, but on Saturday 75 cents will be charged for admission. Reserved seats are 25 cents additional. The game will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

DOWN TO FOUR VETERANS

Semifinals of Women's Golf Championship Today.

WEST NEWTON, Mass., Oct. 11.—Four matches, two well fought and the others easily decided, narrowed the field in the third round of the women's national golf championship at the Brae Burn club today to four veteran players: [illegible] Adams of Boston, Mrs. [illegible] of Philadelphia, Miss Curtis of Boston and [illegible] Phipps of Boston.

The players will meet in that order tomorrow in the [illegible] found a strong opponent in Miss Griscom of Philadelphia, the [illegible] champion. Mrs. Barlow won her match easily from Mrs. Batchelder of Boston and Miss Curtis had no difficulty in putting out [illegible] F. W. Morgan of New York, but Miss Phipps was obliged to play sixteen holes in order to defeat her opponent, [illegible] of Philadelphia.

HIGH SCHOOL CHAMPIONSHIP

First Game for Colorado Honors Saturday Morning.

The local High school eleven is rounding into great shape for the morning game Saturday on Washburn field with the Cripple Creek High school eleven. The game, which will begin at 11 o'clock, is one of the contests scheduled for the High school championship of Colorado, and will exhibit the High school elevens at their best. Captain Morrell is relying on the excellent speed of his charges to carry them to victory over the heavier opponents. Cripple Creek is reputed to have a strong aggregation of players this year and is sanguine of winning the state championship.

SECONDS THROW UP SPONGE

Jack Haley Puts the Quietus on Young Erlenborn in Sixteenth.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 11.—Young Erlenborn, in his fight here tonight at the Gold Belt Athletic club, was so badly beaten up in the sixteenth round of what was to be a twenty-round battle by Jack Haley that his seconds were compelled to throw up the sponge. Haley had the best of the fight in all but one round, the twelfth, when Erlenborn showed a flash of steam and cut him a merry pace. The crowd was with the Denver lad from the start and hissed and hooted Haley from the time he entered the ring till the action of the seconds of Erlenborn. Haley used unfair tactics all through the sixteen rounds, and, together with his eight pounds superior weight, sent the young Denverite to the bad. Nearly 300 people were at the ring side.

In the preliminary Luke Kellogg struck out twice against Australian Harris, and the latter took the count. They fought at 154 pounds.

HOLD A JOLLIFICATION

LIBERALS ESCORT EX-REBEL CHIEFS TO HEADQUARTERS.

Addresses Made Expressing Satisfaction at Close of Revolution by Intervention.

HAVANA, Oct. 11.—An immense crowd of Liberals, mostly negroes from all parts of Havana and its suburbs, met Brigadier General Arencibia and other returning ex-rebel chiefs at the terminus of the western railroad this evening, and escorted them across the city to the Liberal headquarters, where there was a general jollification.

Upon arriving at the Liberal headquarters the rooms were found to be filled with people. Various addresses were made expressing satisfaction at the results of the revolution and lauding American intervention. The speechmaking continued at intervals until a late hour tonight. Uproarious applause greeted the speech of Jose Castellanos who advocated bidding farewell to Messrs. Taft and Bacon with a big demonstration in order to impress them with the fact that the Liberals appreciated the dealings of the United States with Cuba, and to cause President Roosevelt to realize the sympathy of the Liberals with American endeavors. [illegible] said in conclusion that the American commissioners must leave Cuba carrying no doubt of Cuba's affection for the nation and people who twice had freed the Cubans from the yoke of tyranny.

The proposition was adopted with cheers and vivas for Governor Taft and Mr. Bacon.

FATAL HEAD-ON COLLISION

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 11.—Six men were killed in a head on freight collision on the Union Pacific at Ridge, near Laramie, Wyo., last night.

The collision was due to a misunderstanding of orders. The engines of both trains were demolished and the train crews were instantly killed.

Turn Your Face Into Dollars

Many a Man Has Failed Because His Face Was a Picture of Calamity.

It takes sunshine to produce a rose, a perfect rose. And so man, to be successful, must have sunshine inside. The life which has it not, which has no health and no happiness, is sour, surly, pessimistic, and a failure. The world already has too many vinegar faces that breathe ill-will and strife. The world wants joy, comfort, sunshine, and will cling to the man who has it, who radiates gladness and triumph wherever he is and under all circumstances.

Some people have a genius for seeking out the disagreeable, the crooked, the bad and the ugly. These are the destroyers; they travel in schools, they herd together for they love their kind, and the cheerful part of the world will have nothing to do with them.

And why is it that so many people disaster knowing at the same time that if they do, their lives will be ruined? Some people cannot help it, for pessimism usually comes from bodily disorders, and this cannot always be prevented. The stomach, for instance, is the most common cause of discontent, sour face, recklessness, disgust and lack of ambition. A bad stomach—there is the secret of many a failure. Anyone can have a good stomach, a strong stomach, a stomach that can take care of anything and everything that is put into it, no matter whether it is a very bad stomach now or not. Then why not have it?

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this very thing. One ingredient of these little tablets digests 3,000 grains of food, and no matter how bad is your dyspepsia or indigestion, these tablets will digest everything in your stomach thoroughly and completely, and better and quicker than a healthy stomach can do the same thing. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure quickly loss of appetite, brash, irritation, burning sensations, nausea, heartburn, eructations, loss of [illegible] and spirit, bad memory, and dyspepsia and indigestion in their very worst forms.

No other [illegible] tablets in the world can do so [illegible]. You should carry Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets around with you wherever you go and take them after meals. [illegible] will you realize what it is to enjoy [illegible] and perfect digestion. [illegible] Your whole body and your mind will feel the effects, your [illegible] will increase, you will be more satisfied with what the world does, you will think happier and be happier and your face will be one of supreme contentment. That will bring you success and then more success. Your face will bring you dollars. Try it. It will cost you just 50c for a package of these wonderful Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, at any drug store on earth.

"THE FREE LANCE" A BIG HIT

Sousa's Tuneful Comic Opera Attracts Large Audience.

Consider the fact that San Francisco is just now off the map of the dramatic world, and it is apparent that Colorado Springs is in great luck to have an opportunity of seeing and hearing Sousa's new comic opera, "The Free Lance," which appeared at the Opera house last night. Until April the Pacific coast metropolis was the objective point of every first-class theatrical troupe sent out of New York, for, without the large business sure to be done there, the trip from the Missouri river to the west would be unprofitable. But now San Francisco is out of the reckoning, and until its theaters are rebuilt Colorado Springs and other cities in this region are not likely to be favored often with such large productions as "The Free Lance."

When Sousa wrote "El Capitan" several years ago he proved that he is something more than a bandmaster and composer of marches, and now he has proved it again with "The Free Lance." With the collaboration of Harry B. Smith, who has more successful books to his credit than any other librettist in the country, he has produced a work which rises above the plane of musical comedy and enters the realm of real comic opera. The music is bright, catchy and melodious, and two or three of the songs, notably "Three Love Stories" and "The Carrier Pigeon," are likely to live after the play itself has vanished from the boards. The characteristic Sousa touch pervades the entire score, and there is a march song at the end of the first act, "On to Victory," that has all of the swing and dash of his earlier compositions.

The production seen here is remarkable for its completeness. It is handsomely staged and costumed, but, most important, the principal parts are all taken by players of rare ability. Joe Cawthorn, the [illegible], is a comedian who is genuinely and irresistibly funny without trying to be. He is quite capable of entertaining an audience for two hours and a half unaided, but fortunately he doesn't need to, for there are others. In addition to Mr. Cawthorn, who is the Siegmund Lump of the play, there are two comedians with more than the ordinary stock of mirth-provoking ability—George Schiller, as the Emperor of Braggadocia, and Albert Hart as the Duke of Graftiana.

Nella Bergen, who in addition to being unusually pretty is the possessor of a soprano voice of rare purity and sweetness, is cast in the principal female part, that of the Princess Yolande. Miss Bergen divides honors about evenly with Jeanette Lowrie, a commedienne whose cleverness and humor are in inverse ratio to her stature. Perhaps the altitude, which has so many things to answer for, was responsible for the condition of Miss Lowrie's voice last night, but at any rate it was a little too hoarse and throaty to be agreeable.

FAST MAIL JUMPS TRACK

Two Dead and Many Seriously Injured.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 11.—The Iron Mountain fast mail train, which was late in leaving Union station today, jumped the track while making up lost time at the city limits, killing two and injuring nine other persons.

The dead are:

ENGINEER JOHN CASPAR, aged 45, St. Louis.

PETER RAFFERTY, fireman.

Injured:

Mail clerks [illegible] Haines, broken bones; serious. H. Jewson, E. G. Martin, arm broken, internal injuries, serious.

J. P. Wooster.

W. P. Tate.

E. J. Howe.

W. W. Otis.

R. K. A. Canary.

H. R. Coleman.

The accident occurred within a short distance of where the same train was similarly wrecked last spring.

Behind the engine were three mail cars. The engine and two cars plunged from the track at a sharp curve and went down an embankment. The third car did not fall down the embankment. Engineer Caspar was crushed to death. Fireman Rafferty was so badly injured that he died later. He had been out of the hospital only two weeks. Two of the mail clerks were seriously injured, the others being badly bruised.

TREASURER HEMMING HAS FUNDS TO MEET ALL BILLS.

Pike Centennial Committee Closing Up Affairs—Railroads Say Advertising Will Bring Returns.

A meeting of the Pike Centennial executive committee was held at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, but on account of bills still outstanding, an itemized account of the expenses of the celebration could not be had. The executive committee had appointed some twenty-odd subordinate committees, and it will be some time before all of these will receive bills for the debts contracted. However, the expenses, in round figures, were given out as over $16,000, and the funds on hand are sufficient to cover all bills. This statement was made by C. L. Hemming, treasurer of the committee, who said that a detailed account of the whole expenditures will be made public as soon as possible.

Henry Russell Wray of the Chamber of Commerce, has communicated with the various railroads, and has been assured that the amount of money expended in advertising the celebration was inconsiderable in view of the fact that so much publicity was given the city in the papers all over the country. They are of one accord in stating that the advertising received through the big celebration could not have been purchased for a quarter of a million of dollars. They are not worrying over the money spent by them in this manner, as they feel satisfied that it will come back tenfold.

Those present at yesterday's meeting were C. L. Hemming, Henry Russell Wray, E. E. Nichols, Jr., and George R. Buckman. The other members of the committee are out of town.

TICKET IS NOW COMPLETE

Democratic-Independent Nominees Agreed on by V[illegible] Committees Will Be Filed Soon

The committee appointed by the recent [illegible] county convention to fill vacancies on the county ticket will shortly file the following:

Sheriff, Andy Adams; county clerk, Morton Jones; county treasurer, W. H. Hoagland; assessor, Henry S. Hawks; superintendent of schools, E. J. Hufferd; county commissioner, J. T. Hobbs; justices of the police, Colorado Springs district, A. P. Toombs and H. D. Gottner; constables, Charles F. Libby and Charles A. Fiedler; state representative, D. M. Wright, substituted for H. S. Fairchilds, the independent nominee, who has withdrawn.

All of the nominees mentioned have accepted the nomination with the exception of J. T. Hobbs, who is expected to do so in the near future. In making up the ticket Mr. Hufferd was substituted for H. C. Chapman, formerly nominated by the Independents for superintendent of schools, but who has withdrawn.

The nominees finally agreed on for the Democratic ticket will be the same on both the Lindsey and Independent tickets.

COLLEGE NIGHT AT Y. M. C. A.

College Wins at Basketball, 26 to 5 Bar Exhibition. Novel Bag Contest

More than 100 Colorado college students and Y. M. C. A. members gathered in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night to take part in the college night social. Physical Director Erps and his senior "gym" class gave an interesting horizontal bar exhibition. The floor of the gymnasium was cleared at the close of the bar work and a basketball game between the Colorado college team and the Y. M. C. A. was played. By superior team work the collegians won by a score of 26 to 5. Jardine and Siddons, two members of the college team, were members of the Highland Wheel club team of Denver several years ago when the team held the basketball championship of Colorado for two years. The work of Captain Smidt of the Y. M. C. A. team in the game last night was especially good.

The makeup of the teams was: Colorado college, Recks, Lamb, Jardine, Siddons, Smith; Y. M. C. A., Smidt, St. John, Nohe, Hamilton and Stenegér. Physical Director Erps acted as umpire.

The most laughable event of the evening was the "blind man's bluff." Charles Butner and Loyd Shaw, blindfolded and each armed with a punching bag, were fastened by a rope to the center of the "gym" floor and proceeded to try to hit each other with the bags. No decision was rendered, as most of the points were scored against the gymnasium floor.

The committee in charge of last night's entertainment was: Robert Crosbie, A. B. Hanson, Henry Smidt, Clyde Manley, James Sullivan, H. W. Anderson and J. A. Thorpe.

"EARTHQUAKERS" COMPLAIN

Meetings Disturbed by Boys—Neighbors Make Counter Charge.

Complaint was received by the police last night from the religious "earthquake" people, who hold their meetings at 301 Costilla street, that they were much disturbed by boys hooting around the building and in this annoying them, it is claimed by the religious folk, they are urged on by their parents, who apparently wish to break up the meetings. The neighbors claim the meetings are so noisy as to be heard three blocks away, and are a public nuisance.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

PECK'S BAD BOY.

"Peck's Bad Boy," that notably popular farce comedy, which has for twenty years reigned supreme in its special field, far beyond the envious reach of imitation, comes to the Opera house tomorrow for matinee and night, to again prove that in the drama, as in many other things, he that keeps in closest touch with nature is most likely to shake hands with success. When ex-Governor George W. Peck of Wisconsin wrote the sketches upon which the play indicated is founded, by his exclusive permission, he humorously struck a universal human keynote, to which humanity responded with roars of laughter and applause. Following his lead, with equal regard to the requirements of true art, the dramatist also produced a stage masterpiece, and gave the added strength of vitality and individualism to description. The bad boy thus doubly introduced and advertised has proved one of the best cards in the theatrical pack and in all the uncertain shufflings of the business has always turned up as the "joker" in every sense of the word. This season the introduction of new comic complications, scenes and surroundings, and special features of a high order, in which even a bigger and better company than ever before will be seen.

Gladys Middleton, who is well known to Colorado Springs theatergoers, is a member of the company. She is a performer of ability and will be seen in a high-class musical specialty.

VIOLA GILLETTE OPERA CO.

"The Girl and the Bandit," the star attraction to appear at the Opera house next Thursday evening, will be presented by the Viola Gillette Opera company. They are making a tour throughout the country, and hold a record run of ten weeks at the Studebaker theater, Chicago. It is full of bright lyrics, humorous comedy and catchy music. Miss Viola Gillette is a beautiful young contralto with a perfect figure, and will be seen in the prima donna role, a part in which she has met with unusual success. There are more than seventy-nine people connected with the organization. The cast includes well-known comedians and comediennes, surrounded by a host of bewildering show girls.

"PEGGY FROM PARIS."

Everybody will wish to go to the Opera house next Tuesday evening. The attraction will be "Peggy From Paris," George Ade's musical comedy hit. There is certain laughter in "Peggy From Paris." It is assured by the fact that George Ade is the author. Who has not heard and enjoyed his "Fables in Slang" and "Stories of the Streets and of the Town" and his other writings? Everybody is familiar with their wit and cleverness; and equal wit and cleverness abounds in "Peggy From Paris." Hence all theater patrons in this city and vicinity will wish to hear the play. They will want to enjoy the humor and comedy, and further, they will wish to hear the music that was written for "Peggy From Paris" by J. A. Raynes. Probably most everybody has heard some of the airs from this musical comedy, for they have taken strong hold of public fancy. But they will have to be heard as sung in "Peggy From Paris" to be fully appreciated. The musical numbers of this play have scored great hits. There is the male chorus, "College Days," and the celebrated song, "Emmaleen," in which Mr. Cicero J. Grampis is assisted by a score of pretty girls. Then there is the duet, "The Girl Who Comes in From the West," which has become decidedly popular in New York, Boston and Chicago, and there is "Henny," which has been sung and whistled everywhere. "Lil, My Wester Lily," is another hit, as is the chorus, "Flirtation," as well as several others. "Peggy From Paris" abounds in attractive music and it is delightfully sung, for principals and chorus are of the kind that can do full justice to it.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CAMPAIGN.

WHEN the Republican landslide occurred in Colorado four years ago the state's delegation in the lower branch of Congress was placed safely in the column of the party which is dominant in Congress and throughout the nation, and there it has remained ever since. It is universally admitted that Colorado was never better represented in the lower branch of Congress than it has been during the last three years by Representatives Brooks, Bonynge and Hogg. Indeed the only regret is that our state has not stood as high in the Senate as it has in the House, for if it did it would have as strong a delegation, numbers considered, as is possessed by almost any state in the Union.

Now there is to be a change in personnel—though not in politics—through the decisions of Mr. Brooks and Mr. Hogg to withdraw to private life. But the Republicans of the state and of the Second Congressional district have named in their stead two men of conspicuous ability who may be depended upon to carry forward the excellent work of the present members. General George W. Cook, of Denver, is a Colorado pioneer who has taken an active part in the building of the state. Though only ten years old at the beginning of the Civil War, he served throughout its entire four years, first as drummer boy and afterward as chief regimental clerk. According to the records he was the youngest non-commissioned officer in the Federal Army. He is a man of high character and exceptional ability, and will prove a worthy member of the Colorado delegation. Mr. Warren A. Haggott, who has been nominated to succeed Representative Hogg, is an attorney of Cripple Creek, and served during the Peabody administration as Lieutenant Governor.

There is [illegible] much danger of the Democrats [illegible] control of the House of Representatives [illegible] of their cutting down [illegible] Republican majority. But the issue in the present Congressional campaign throughout the nation is the election of a Congress which will be in thorough accord with President Roosevelt, and will support him in the execution of his policies. For this reason it is important that the Republican majority be maintained undiminished. The policy of the Democrats in Congress is now, as it has been for years, simply opposition to the Republicans. It is well known that the efficiency of a Congressman is greatly impaired if he happens to belong to the minority, for he is always outvoted both on the floor of the house and in committee, nor is it possible for him to get appointments to the more important committees. The issues in the Congressional campaign have nothing to do with the state issues, so there is every reason why all citizens who are anxious that Colorado be fittingly represented in the House should vote for the Republican candidates.

FUTURE POPULATION.

JAMES J. HILL is generally reckoned to be the greatest railroad man and "empire builder" that this country has ever produced, so his opinions on the future development of the Northwest, the section which he more than any other man transformed from a wilderness into an agricultural paradise, may be considered authoritative. A few days ago Mr. Hill delivered an address in Chicago on "The Development of the Northwest," in which he predicted that by the middle of the Twentieth Century our country will have a population of more than two hundred millions. Where are these people to find profitable occupation? How are they to obtain the necessities of life? were the questions he asked his hearers.

That the Eastern portion of the United States is crowded, almost over-crowded, is an established fact. Except in New York state and in two or three of the New England states, the density of population is scarcely to be compared with that in almost any European country, and particularly in England, France and Germany. But New York City, Chicago, and even Boston and St. Louis, are already confronted by the same problems of congestion that obtain in the larger cities of Europe. The most densely populated spot on the globe is a district on the lower east side of Manhattan Island. It is said that this condition could be relieved if some means were devised to "get the landless man to the manless lands" of the West, for the trans-Mississippi region is capable of supporting many times its present population. In this respect the problem of surplus population in our Eastern cities is not so serious as the European problem, for the rural districts of England, France and Germany are already so crowded that there is little room for the surplus population of the cities, even if it were possible to get these people away from the cities.

But how much longer will the West be able to [illegible] for its own natural increase and the surplus population from the East? The census reports for the last four decades show that the population of the United States has increased at an average rate of a little more than 1,000,000 a year, but this rate is now much greater. During the decade 1890-1900 our population increased about [illegible]—from 62,622,250 to 76,303,387. The [illegible] estimates the population for [illegible] at about 83,500,000. During the last [illegible] the foreign immigration has exceeded [illegible], and it is fair to estimate that for some time it will continue at the rate of fully a million a year. This means that the increase from this source alone is now and for some time will doubtless continue to be as large as the natural increase and the immigration combined were a few years ago.

Viewing the West from a car window, a superficial observer might be led to believe that the country is capable of a much greater development than is actually the case. Its area may be roughly divided into three parts: first, that which is already under cultivation, which is by far the greatest of the three; second, that which may be made capable of cultivation either by irrigation or the "dry farming" process; and last, that which never can be cultivated, either because it is too high or too far removed from water or because the soil is too rocky or contains too much alkali. Of this last class there is about 70,000,000 acres. The 160,000,000 acres of land which is yet to be placed under irrigation is reckoned by Mr. Hill to be capable of supporting a population of some seven or eight millions.

Thus it is apparent that if we count on a population of 200,000,000 by the year 1950 the whole country will be pretty badly crowded. Most of this increase will reside in the Mississippi Valley and in the other states which are naturally best adapted to supporting large populations. It is true that the German Empire with an area slightly smaller than the state of Texas has 60,000,000 people and that China, which has only about 600,000 square miles greater area than the United States, has a population more than five times as large as our own. But it would be impossible for the American people to live under such conditions as prevail in China, nor could they get along comfortably if they had to live under such crowded conditions as obtain in Germany.

SOME MORE DEMOCRATIC POLITICS.

WE confess with shame and regret our inability to keep track of Democratic politics in this town. The only consolation to be extracted from this state of mind is the reflection that there must be a good many thousand other people in the same fix. There are so many "Lindsey" tickets, so many "Burns" tickets and so many different kinds of Democrats of all shades of belief and affiliation, that only a professional puzzle expert could keep tab on them. One day they are fighting in a convention, the next they are fighting in the columns of a newspaper. Today they are fighting within the sacred precincts of the Democratic club, and nobody knows that tomorrow they won't be fighting on the street or in a back alley.

Now it appears that Mr. Jones, Mr. Doyle and Mr. Starrett are to be fired bodily from the Democratic club and denied all the pleasures and privileges of membership thereunto appertaining. At least it appears that this is what Jimmy is going to do, or wants to do—which is not always one and the same thing. We gather from the published reports of this unfortunate affair that the Jones-Doyle-Starrett triumvirate control the exchequer, and that the supporters of Leader Burns are displeased thereat, considering themselves the only legitimate members of the Democracy and therefore the only ones who are capable of carrying on such extensive financial transactions as are involved in the payment of the janitor, etc.

Not being a Democratic organ, The Gazette of course has no right to assume the role of peacemaker in this family row, but somehow we can't resist the temptation to offer a little advice anyway. We think that Mr. Burns should be allowed to have his way, for as usual he has right and justice on his side. To some people the fact that it is only a contention over who shall carry the check book may make it seem trivial, but it is nothing of the kind. The eternal fitness of things demands that Jimmy or one of Jimmy's trusty followers should be given that check book to have and to hold. The idea of the other fellows handling it is absurd, for what use could they make of it? It takes both money and brains to run a political campaign and doubtless the same things come in handy sometimes in running a political club. Therefore let the check book be turned over to the affluent end of the combination. Let the honors be divided.

ANCESTRAL PARADE IN THE SWIM.

Sol Long, Editor Arkansas City (Kan.) Megaphone.

In order to break into society without being compelled to lay myself liable for using a jimmy I beg to announce that I have lately received permission from the College of Heralds to use my ancestral coat-of-arms. The device is very beautiful, consisting of a jackrabbit rampant spitting in the face of a bulldog couchant, on a shield quartering green, yellow, red and pure white. The green is emblematical of the color of my forefathers; the yellow of that streak we all have in common at times and upon occasions; the red what he melted [illegible] and what I used to pay 15 cents a drink for, and the white is emblematic of my bank book at present and my intentions all the time. The whole surmounted by a crown of lambs-quarter greens and three green onions ahashed. The motto is "In hoc fricassee," meaning, "My great-grandfather was one of the 3,000 or 4,000 ragged Continentals who crossed the Delaware in the same boat with Washington." I might also add that my wife is distantly related to Lord Nelson, whose father was one of the best section bosses on the road from Cork to Dublin. Look out for my coming-out function. Tickets on sale at the drug store.

LIEUT. PIKE'S DIARY

For One Hundred Years Ago Today

Sunday 12th October.—Here the Belle Oiseau and one Osage left us and there remained only one man and woman of that nation. Their reason for leaving us was that our course bore too much west and they desired to bear more for the hunting ground of the Osage. In the morning sent out to obtain the buffalo meat and laid by until after breakfast. Proceeded at [illegible] o'clock and crossing the river two or three times we passed two camps where the Spanish troops had halted. Here they appeared to have remained some days. Their roads being so much blinded by the traces of the buffalo we lost them entirely. This was a mortifying circumstance as we had reason to calculate that they had good guides and were on the best route for wood and water. We took a south-west direction and before night were fortunate enough to strike their road on the left [illegible] much to our [illegible] the eastern [illegible] of the Kansas or La Fourche [illegible] Killed one buffalo. Distance advanced eight miles.

CUBAN LACK OF PATRIOTISM.

From the New York Tribune.

Secretary Taft truly complains of the lack of patriotism which he finds in Cuba. Petty jealousies and personal ambitions, often of a brazen or a sordid nature, take the place of that noble passion. This, there is little reason to doubt, is the chief secret of the disaster which has befallen the Cuban republic. It is not, however, cause for wonder. The deplorable conditions which prevail in Cuba are not unique. They have notoriously prevailed elsewhere, in lands where there was less excuse for them than in Cuba. Recall, for example, the frank confession made in behalf of Colombia eight years ago by Dr. Jose Marroquin in his address on assuming the Vice Presidency of that republic.

"Hatred, envy and ambition are elements of discord. In the political arena the battle rages fiercely not so much with the idea of securing the triumph of principles as with that of humbling and elevating persons and parties.

"The notion of Mother Country is mistaken or obliterated. It is so intimately associated with that of political disorders and with the afflictions and distrust which they engender that it is not unusual to hear from one of our countrymen what could not be heard from a native of any other country: 'I wish I had been born somewhere else.' Could many be found among us who would feel proud when exclaiming, 'I am a Colombian,' in the same way that a Frenchman does when exclaiming, 'I am a Frenchman?'"

Dr. Marroquin's words described only too truly the state of affairs existing not only in Colombia, but also in other South and Central American states. It exists in Cuba also, in a pernicious degree. Perhaps it is not so greatly to be wondered at there, but it is to be regarded as almost natural if not inevitable, seeing that for centuries the Cubans were in a sense a people without a country, under the misgovernment and oppression of Spain. There was little chance for the development of patriotism in such circumstances, unless the people had been gifted with other dispositions and temperaments than those which nature gave them, such, for example, as those of the Dutch and the Swiss. But what is certain now is that the most important—and, we fear, not least difficult—lesson for the Cuban people to learn is that of patriotism, the patriotism which places the nation above a party and far above the individual interest or ambition. Until that lesson is learned, talk of "Cuba Libre" will be a mockery.

CAUSE FOR TEARS.

From the Boulder Camera.

Editor Paul Thieman requires several columns on his personal page, the rear of the Post—in which to explain how he tried to save Benny Lindsey from falling into the hands of the Philistines, but it was no go. The picture of Mr. Thieman's employers, Messrs. Tammen and Bonfils, trying to steer the Lindsey craft away from the rocks and shoals of dishonor and to keep little Ben pure and clean and untarnished is one to make a big draft on the tear wells of our optics, but really we can't work ourselves up to it.

READ THE LOCAL PAPER.

From the Telluride Journal.

The local paper should be found in every home. No children should grow up ignorant who can be taught to appreciate the home paper. It is said to be the stepping stone of intelligence in all those matters not found in books. Give your children a foreign paper which contains not a word about any person, place or thing which they know, or perhaps ever heard of, and how can you expect them to be interested? But let them have the home paper and read of people whom they meet and the places with which they are familiar and soon an interest is awakened which increases with every arrival of the local paper. Thus a habit of reading is formed and these children will read the newspapers all their lives and become intelligent men and women, a credit to their ancestors, strong in knowledge of the world as it is today.

SIDEWALKS IN GREELEY.

From the Greeley Republican.

Another step toward improving the sidewalks as well as beautifying the city was taken this week when work was commenced on the laying of cement sidewalks on Ninth avenue. Contracts have been signed by nearly every property owner on the avenue and work is now progressing on the north end and within six weeks or two months the avenue for the entire length will be completed. The paving of this avenue is the initial move in the paving of all the sidewalks in the city and when the weather opens up in the spring we predict that [illegible] districts will be [illegible] by the property owners and that [illegible] many years gravel sidewalks will be a thing of the past and Greeley will have added another feather in her cap for being the "most beautiful."

And it is just as reasonable to suppose that the same railroads that tried to have Alva and his friends steal the state administration two years ago are now contributing handsomely to the same object in the hope that in that way they will get the legislation through the next legislature that was vetoed by Governor McDonald.

HOW TO BE HAPPY, THOUGH MARRIED

(A Chicago wife who just celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of a happy marriage gives the following advice as the way to do it.)

If you want to have a happy married life, says an expert,
And of course, that's what each woman's aiming for,
Now let me pour into your ears, young women, just a bit
Of the sixty years of wisdom I've in store.
Don't think a stock of knowledge will increase his love for you,
Of beauty he'll get tired a little bit,
So after you have got him, if you want to hold him fast,
Just feed him well and make him think he's "It."

Don't try for a career to make his name a famous one
And cause the world to stare in awed surprise;
To advertise that you're the senior partner in the firm
Won't make you sweeter in your husband's eyes.
Don't join the women's clubs and take a part in politics,
So men will say "Your wife, Smith, made a hit."
He won't be half as happy, as contented and as proud
As if he gets the grub and thinks he's "It."

Don't go against the grain of human nature when it's male,
If you marry, girls, to have a happy life,
No man may be a hero, as saws hold, to his valet,
But each man expects to be one to his wife.
It isn't all your beauty and your talents that will charm;
He won't come home soon just to hear your wit,
So after you have got him, if you want to hold him fast,
Just feed him well and make him think he's "It."

THE DIFFICULTY OF NOT WRITING

From the New York Evening Post.

It is, of course, an old complaint that of the making of many books there is no end. But the ancient Hebrews, with the classic writers who also wailed about the same thing, knew little of the real sufferings in store for the world. The modern magazine, the literary syndicate, the daily newspaper had not swum into their ken. Our latter-day new facilities for printing undoubtedly intensify the temptation to seek to get into print, and it is only the rarer characters, of sterner stuff, who can be counted upon to resist it. The difficult thing used to be to write, nowadays it is not to write.

It is thrown into the form of a Socratic dialogue, and starts off: Is it true, Crito, that it is almost impossible for our well-educated citizens not to write? Do we not see that nearly everyone has published either a poor novel or a collection of poems, at the worst a book of travels, a privately printed comedy, an article, a few printed pages in any case?" The plague of manuscripts is described at length. Coming to the causes of it, this French Socrates explains that the main reason why everyone writes today is that nobody converses. Formerly, witty Parisians could shine in a salon; at present, they can only glitter on a billboard. Vanity, it is expounded with true Platonic logic, is the motive that prompts men to write; so long a vanity could be gratified by the reputation of being a brilliant talker, with the consequent digito monstrari at receptions and on promenade, there was no occasion to exercise one's talents in type. But the decay of that spirituel French salon which charmed Matthew Arnold has driven men, some to absinthe, some to ink.

Letting these notions, suspect because foreign, go for what they are worth, Americans cannot fail to note on their own account that it is harder and harder for multitudes in this country to refrain from writing. The number of young graduates, of both sexes, who will gravely tell you that they have decided to take up literature as their life work, is greater every year. Youth will be served, of course, in this as in other ways. Indeed, as an innocent old lady of our acquaintance observed, when turning over the pages of a periodical filled with portraits of the authors of the latest masterpieces, "Why, it seems as if it had got so that all the boys and girls were writing books." Not the least doubt of it, but how can they be blamed? As the surprised western contributor said to the editor of a magazine, "Of course, I might have known that, with your facilities for publishing, you would be a poet." It is the fatal facility of publishing that is rapidly bringing about a state of things which almost makes it a duty for every person with influence to imitate Lady Holland. She once said to Lord Porchester, "I am sorry to hear you are going to publish a poem. Can't you suppress it?"

A radical cure of the mania for writing it would be hard to produce on demand. It is so easy not to write a sonnet, but that old joke has wholly lost its point. There is some hope, perhaps, of making old writers leave off their bad habit. The satiety cure has been known to work well with some graphomaniacs. A retired journalist was once heard to say, "Subjects used to appeal to me so. If a good one presented itself I couldn't be happy till I had written about it. But now I take a more exquisite satisfaction in not writing; the more inviting the topic the keener my pleasure in leaving it alone." The same motive has been known to operate with newspaper men whose working days are not yet over. In a Lucerne cafe a talented French journalist on vacation was once heard to exclaim, "Garcon, donnez-moi tout ce qu'il faut pour ne pas ecrire." But the weariness of the jaded writer will never check the neophyte. The remedy by satiation begins at the wrong end of the line. Our task is not to speed the lagging superfluous veteran, but to check the hosts advancing with [illegible] more than the "cheap [illegible] army." In some [illegible] must be [illegible] in such fashion [illegible] those of tender years from the vice of writing with nothing to say. Possibly a prix de vertu might be established for that young man or maiden who shows the largest number of manuscripts never offered to a single editor or publisher. Social pressure might be resorted to, the power not of the Big Stick but of the club invoked. For example: "I thought you told me there was no possibility of my being blackballed." "Ah, but that was before you had written your last article!" Or some form of political reward might be devised. Official party eulogies might exalt the non-writing virtuoso thus: "He was always good to his old mother, he never printed a letter of travel, he was kind to his children, he never yielded to the demand of a magazine that he make himself a human document or tell the story of a typical life." These, we admit, are little better than despairing suggestions, but something has got to be done to make it easier not to write.

UNFAIR TO THE NEWSPAPERS

From Leslie's Weekly.

Newspapers are interested in a ridiculous ruling made by the interstate commerce commission. This forbids the exchange of newspaper advertising space for railroad transportation, even when both are given at the full rates. The great newspapers will probably welcome the ruling, as it will compel the railroads to pay in cash for all their publicity, but thousands of little newspapers scattered throughout the country, which have always exchanged advertising space at regular rates for railroad transportation, will rebel against the ruling of the commission. All these papers have a fixed price for their advertising space, and it has been the custom for them to exchange this space not only for railroad transportation but for due-bills on hotels, and merchandise accounts. When the great annual gatherings of the National [illegible] Association are held, hundreds of the delegates pay for their transportation to the place of the convention by an exchange of space at regular rates. What there is unfair or in the way of discrimination in this, is beyond comprehension. The newspapers have something to sell, and so have the railroads. Newspapers could pursue the rounda- railroads, receiving checks or cash in bout course of selling space to the payment, and turning the money back into the railroad office for tickets, but this circumlocution is unnecessary when interchangeable values or commodities are involved. The ruling of the interstate commerce commission, therefore, is utterly indefensible. We have no doubt that the newspapers will voice their opinion of the matter in a way that will be heard at Washington before the next session of congress.

FOOTBALL PLAYER IN POLITICS.

From the New Haven dispatch in New York World.

Frank S. Butterworth, Yale, '95, who was known as Yale's greatest quarter back, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator in the Eighth district of this city.

"I don't want it said that my friends have prevailed upon me to run as a public duty, or any such talk," he said today. "It is my ambition to enter public life."

Butterworth was born in Ohio. His father, Benjamin Butterworth, was for years a congressman. Since his graduation, Butterworth has been in the brokerage business in New York and this city.

HOLBROOK & PERKINS

K. OF P. OFF ON SPECIAL

BOUND FOR NEW ORLEANS AND CUBA.

Colorado Springs Companies Will Compete in Drills and Try to Get Next Convention Here.

The Colorado & Southern special train bearing 34 Knights of Pythias delegates from Denver arrived in this city yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, and departed for the grand encampment and convention at New Orleans carrying 116 more knights from Colorado Springs and vicinity for Fort Worth, Tex. Over 15 were picked up at Pueblo, and a few more at Trinidad and Walsenburg.

In command of the K. P. delegation is Captain Alex Reihscheld of the Garden of the Gods company. The eight-coach special will travel 1,275 miles before the southern metropolis is reached. Pike's Peak company No 10 was in charge of Captain Grant, who has 30 men under his command

The train, which is made up of 8 cars, consisting of two coaches, three tourist sleepers, two baggage cars used as diners, and two standard sleepers will go by way of the Colorado & Southern to Fort Worth, Tex., over the Houston & Texas Central to Houston, and over the Southern Pacific to New Orleans.

A special train carrying 60 K. of P. delegates from the Seattle lodges passed through the city over the C. & S. yesterday.

All the members of the Garden of the Gods company and some of the Pike's Peak company members will sail from New Orleans for Cuba on October 17. A number of prize winners at the recent K. of P carnival in this city accompanied the knights, among them Miss Marie Nye, Miss Nellie Wilkins, Miss Gretchen Croy and Miss Pearl Long.

The Colorado Springs uniform rank companies will enter the competitive drills at New Orleans. They will also drill at Fort Worth, Beaumont, Houston and Galveston The Florence band will furnish music during the trip. An attempt will be made to bring the next convention to Colorado Springs

GRAVE DISEASES, DUE TO STANDING

Tells How Miss Merkley's Dangerous Illness and Cure

Have you ever thought why so many [illegible] or girls rather walk an hour than stand still for [illegible] minutes?

Miss Margret Merkley

It is because [illegible] women suffer from [illegible] derangement of their delicate organism, the discomfort of which is less trying when they are in motion than when standing.

In some states laws compel employers to provide resting places for their female employees.

But no amount of law can regulate the hard tasks of these women They must get the strength which this work demands or run the risk of serious diseases and the surgeon's knife

Read the experience of Miss Margret Merkley, 275 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis :

Dear Mrs. Pinkham —

"Owing to [illegible] of strength, nervousness, bearing-down pains and extreme irritation [illegible] me to seek medical advice The doctor said I had [illegible] organs and ulceration, and advised [illegible] operation if I wanted to get well I objected to this and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial I soon found that all the good things [illegible] about this [illegible] medicine were true. The ulceration soon healed, backache [illegible] disappeared, and in a short time I [illegible] vigorous and [illegible] working girl [illegible] Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound"

WANTS NAME LEFT OUT

HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH DEFECTIVE DAM.

W. A. Anderson, of Clough & Anderson, Sold Interest in Firm Before Deception Took Place.

W. A. Anderson, a former member of the firm of Clough & Anderson, arrived in the city yesterday after a lengthy absence and received his first intimation of the investigation which has been going on for some time into the construction of the dam at reservoir No. 4 of the city's water system

Mr Anderson states that he has not been connected with the firm since November 26, 1903 when he sold out his interest to Mr Clough. Since that time, he says, the firm has been known as R. Clough & Co.

"The contract for the dam work," said Mr. Anderson, "was let to the firm of Clough & Anderson in October, the month prior to my selling out, but at the time I sold my interest the bonds on the contract had not been made out, and none of the work was in operation.

"I have never even been on the ground, and never was connected with the contract in any way after I sold out. The contract was naturally referred to in the papers in the firm's name under which it was let.

"While the mistake was perfectly natural. I do not like to be connected with the matter, and hope that in the future my name will be left out."

NEWS OF THE LOCAL COURTS

In the district court in Pueblo yesterday J F. Neff, humane officer, charged with a statutory offense, was bound over to the next term of court under $500 bonds, which was supplied.

Habeas corpus proceedings will be instituted before Judge Shuster today and requisition papers applied for for the removal of Marshall Goodale to Kansas City Mo., where he will be tried [illegible] a statutory offense He is alleged to have criminally assaulted his niece, Lulu Brown, formerly of Colorado City and as soon as the necessary papers are secured he will be taken in charge by Vernon Downing, a deputy marshal of Kansas City.

A verdict was rendered in the county court yesterday in the Cowan diamond case by which the plaintiff, Lulu Hill, was awarded $153 damages. This concludes the case, which has been before the local courts for some time past.

The case of the People vs. Mrs Diamond, of Pueblo, was up before Judge Ruby yesterday, but was dismissed, as the alleged fraud was committed outside of this judicial district. The plaintiff is Mrs Harrington, who claims that Mrs. Diamond defrauded her in the sale of supposedly exclusive agency rights on a tailoring system Mrs. Harrington later found that there were other agents in the field, and [illegible] suit for the recovery of her money. The case will probably be brought up again in the Pueblo courts

A divorce was yesterday granted in the county court to Clarence B. Morrison, from Frances Morrison, and to Richard Woolridge from Hattlett Woolridge the complaint being desertion

CARTMELL'S FUNERAL

MAN KILLED BY SMITH TO BE BURIED TODAY.

Evidence Shows That the Two Men Had Fought Before the Fatal Encounter

The body of W[illegible] road man stabbed to death by [illegible] W Smith Tuesday evening last will [illegible] buried this morning from the [illegible] morgue the interment [illegible] Evergreen cemetery. The funeral [illegible] a quiet one with simple [illegible] the grave

[illegible] months ago he was severely thrashed by the latter in a previous encounter on Vermijo street

When the [illegible] Cartmell explained the matter as a family [illegible] stating that Smith was his son-in-law and he had undertaken to chastise him for abusing his daughter Mrs Smith As Smith made no complaint to the officers no arrest was made Both men were allowed to go after apparently amicable relations had been restored, At that time the Smiths were living on Cimarron street

Letters found on Cartmell show that he had referred to Mrs Smith as a sister in an application he made to the Midland for a job Another letter included an application to the C & S for a ticket on reduced rates to Denver and return for Mrs. W. C. Cartmell," who is supposed to have been Mrs Smith Still another letter was from a woman in Cripple Creek, who signed herself "Lillian," and who expressed the desire to see Cartmell in the near future

According to evidence collected by the police it now appears that C. W. Cartmell was in the habit of pawning articles belonging to Mrs. Smith. Some of her property has been found at Myer's pawnshop, where Mrs Smith was known as Mrs. Cartmell One of her dresses was pawned by Cartmell for $2, and the proceeds, it is supposed, went for liquor On the day before the tragedy Cartmell left his valise with the Davis Drug company as security for a bottle of gin.

The wound which was the direct cause of Cartmell's death, was the one resulting from a blow on the left side, the knife penetrating between the ribs and piercing the ventricle of the heart The police attach no significance to the fact that the coat was not pierced by this blow, as Cartmell was wielding a chair at the time and very likely had his arms raised so that the coat would be drawn backwards, exposing the side and chest. In the case of the three other wounds the coat showed holes where it had been pierced, but as it was open at the time the fourth and fatal blow was delivered, it was not cut.

On the night of the murder Mrs. Smith assured the police that her first husband, L. S. Moore, would undoubtedly furnish bonds to prevent her from being locked up, but when he was communicated with by telephone he merely remarked "I will write to her in the morning"

POLLING PLACES ARE SELECTED

County Commissioners Name Those for Colorado City, Manitou and Green Mountain Falls.

The county commissioners spent yesterday in hunting up suitable polling places in Colorado City and Manitou, and so far have selected the following.

Colorado City Precinct 5, No 8 North Fifth street, precinct 6, the old city hall. precinct 7, 412 Colorado avenue, precinct 8, St. Mary's hall, 52 Robinson street.

ANDY ADAMS SAYS HE'LL STICK

Will Run Against Sheriff Grimes, From whom He Agrees to "Strip the Lion's Skin."

It was announced yesterday in Democratic circles that Andy Adams had accepted the nomination on the Democratic ticket for the office of sheriff of El Paso county, and was willing to make the run against Sheriff Grimes This was confirmed by Mr Adams, who made the following statement

Rather than leave a vacancy on the ticket opposed to machine politics I was prevailed on to accept the nomination for sheriff Then again, Sheriff Grimes is looked upon as a demigod in his party, but if one of the local papers will loan me its editorial page for a single issue I will agree to strip the lion's skin from this would be hero, and do it artistically. AUTO TRIPS IN FRANCE

R. A. MILLER GIVES SOME INTERESTING DATA.

With Good Roads and Hotels Touring Will Be as Popular Here Why French Machines Excel

[illegible] evidence [illegible] the fact that the trip [illegible] Cherbourg a distance [illegible] is commonly made [illegible] tourists said R. A. Miller president of the Miller & [illegible] Automobile company in speaking of [illegible] tour through France [illegible]

Mr Miller [illegible] Secretary Jackson of the Good Roads association who is in Colorado Springs endeavoring to interest the state in a project to build a road [illegible] Colorado from Kansas City, with the east Mr Jackson [illegible] such a highway would bring automobiles to this state [illegible]

Mr Miller pointed out [illegible] America can not be expected to have the same class of roads as the old European countries and probably [illegible] not have for many years to come [illegible] nations of the old world have been at the business of road building for centuries before America was heard of The result is that in France, particularly the roads all over the country are simply perfect In many cases the roadbeds are six feet thick, are as good in wet weather as dry, and are so firm as to be impervious to water.

French Make Long Auto Tours.

"The wealthy classes in France scarcely ever think of traveling by train," said Mr Miller They make long journeys in their touring cars There is another reason for this besides the assurance that they will have perfect roads wherever they want to go. They are as certain of first class service in the hotels in any little town where they may chance to be at meal time as in the best cafe in Paris

"This at once impresses an American, who knows the conditions that obtain in the majority of the small cities and towns of America, where a traveler is fortunate if he gets a good cup of coffee and a half decent bed. The French have the art of living and the art of serving down to a fine point, and no matter where one goes he is certain of solid comfort and even luxury and the service is excellent

Must Have Good Hotels.

"The tipping system is universal, but even at that, the traveler gets better returns for the money he spends than he does in America. The principal point is that travel by auto is both easy and pleasant, and there is no such thing as being tied up at nightfall in a little town with no accommodations

"With good automobile roads the American people must understand that good accommodations along all the routes are essential, if they would induce the American leisure class to travel and spend their money in their own country, rather than abroad. With these things provided they will certainly do so, for we have both the climate and the scenery to equal anything in Europe.

Reason for French Superiority.

Mr Miller expressed himself as much impressed with the superiority of the best French machines over the American though he says we are gradually working up to the French standard. The French manufacturers have all they can do to supply the domestic trade, and American orders are two or three years in arrears The reason for the superiority of the French machines is that more time is spent in their manufacture. More attention is given minor details, and the machine are put to thorough tests before they are allowed to leave the shops

In America the manufacturers depend more on advertising, and the public do not demand the same quality of workmanship as in the older countries Quantity is the aim more than quality, though there are several American firms who are making an honest effort to improve and bring their machines up to the high standard of the French

BUYING IS SPASMODIC

STOCK MARKET SHOWS EVIDENCE OF STRENGTH.

Prices Hold Firm Until Drive in Last Hour—Developments Have Little Effect.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Today's stock market had abundant evidence of strength, and where there was no actual rising tendency, prices held firm until the drive against the market in the last hour. The character of the trading was not much changed and was still spotty. The buying was spasmodic and came in large orders and gave the impression of coming from identical sources. The effective demand converged also on a few stocks.

General developments had little bearing on the day's market. The news which developed last night on a failure in the Cuban-American trade, involving between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000, seemed to be completely ignored. The rise of a full 10 per cent to 5 per cent in the Bank of England's discount rate did not cause a ripple in the stock market either here or in London, having been certainly anticipated.

The rebound in Sterling exchange rates today was violent here and in Paris and Berlin, and showed the imperative nature of the demand of the financial centers for the recall of resources. In this market it made itself felt by heavy remittances to pay maturing indebtedness. The absence of effect on the local money market, in face of this process, was regarded as reassuring. The Sterling rate at Paris jumped to the gold export point and it is said that point is looked upon as likely to come to the relief of London's need for replenished reserves.

The English bank's $12,527,950 decrease in the bullion brought its proportion of reserve of liabilities down to 35.45 per cent, from 38.50 per cent last week. Last year, in this week, the proportion was increased from 38⅝ per cent to 41½.

The bank sent another $1,000,000 bullion to Egypt today. There was a general response in foreign discount markets to this action by the Bank of England. Interior exchanges on New York still rule at a discount, and $500,000 was transferred from here to Chicago today through the subtreasury.

The continued deposit of government funds with the local banks served to keep the local money market replenished. The event of the day which attracted most speculative interest was the rise in United States Steel to 50. Speculative sentiment watched the action of that stock at that point as a guide for future prospects.

It was known that enormous selling orders at that price would have to be encountered. On the other hand, it was argued that if the stock rose through that obstacle successfully the way would be opened for a considerable further advance in the stock. When it touched 50 and then fell back, there was a perceptible backset in the entire market.

Pressure was most pronounced against Union Pacific, and rumors were circulated of an intended government process against the company. The department of justice at Washington, however, denied this. "Shorts" covered and made a vigorous rally in Union Pacific, but the early gains in the market had been almost too wide to be entirely recovered.

Bonds irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,124,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

TO LOCATE ACCIDENT SHOOT

Maggie No. 2 Crosscutting for Rich Ore.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 11.—Wright and company, who took a lease on the Maggie No. 2 claim, lying between the Pointer and Accident claims on the west slope of Gold hill, a couple of weeks ago, have cleaned out the shaft, which has not been worked for several years, and are now preparing to sink it from the 190-foot point to the 250-foot level. No work will be done until the dead work is finished.

After the shaft was cleaned out and in a very short crosscut, Wright and his associates found a two-foot vein from which assays taken clear across show values of $19, $21 and $22. This vein will be thoroughly exploited after the shaft is sunk. The lessees are sinking in the hope that they will be able to find the continuation of the rich Accident shoot in the Maggie No. 2. The prospects are good for locating it.

WEAKNESS IN MARKET

PROFIT TAKING BY LONGS DEPRESSES WHEAT.

December Option Closes at Loss. Corn Is Down and Oats Also Are Lower.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Profit taking by local longs caused weakness in the wheat market at Chicago today, the December option closing at net loss of ⅜@½c. Corn was down ⅛c. Oats were ⅝c lower. Provisions were 2½@5c lower.

Wheat weakness developed late in the day, following a strong tone during the first half of the session. The early strength was due to active demand by pit traders and commission houses. Small receipts in the northwest, firm cables and the government report were the principal reasons for the urgent demand. Late in the session cash houses and local longs began to sell the December option. Part of the selling was due to a bear report made by a Chicago crop expert who has just returned from a crop inspection tour of the spring wheat belt.

Corn was weak owing to free selling by cash houses and discouraged longs. The market closed weak with prices at the lowest point of the day.

Oats were weak all day. December opened ⅛ to a split lower.

Provisions opened fairly steady, but became weak in sympathy with the weakness in corn and oats. At the close January pork was off 12½c at $13.62½. Ribs and lard were also weak and a little lower.

ORE RUNS $80 TO THE TON

Forest Queen Ships Car of Rich Screenings—Will Send Out One Car a Day.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 11.—Superintendent Fogleman, who is operating the Forest Queen lease on Ironclad hill for Millionaire Roach of Chicago, has just marketed two cars of ore which were mined from the 400-foot level some 200 feet from the shaft, where an ore body over four feet wide is exposed. The consignment consists of one car of screenings which will probably run $80 in gold to the ton, while the other car contained coarse rock and will give values around $40.

This is the first ore sent out since Mr. Fogleman has taken charge of the property. The Forest Queen was closed down for several months during the late summer. From now on a car a day or more will be sent out. Surface water has been giving most of the mines and lessees in this vicinity much bother, and has resulted in some of the properties being forced temporarily to close down.

EXAMINING THE JO DANDY

Believed to Be at Request of James F. Burns.—Was Closed Down in July.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 11.—Victor G. Hills, the well-known mining engineer; John Nichols, for years superintendent of the famous Midget mine on the west slope of Gold hill, and Joseph Ady of Colorado Springs, have just completed making an examination of the Jo Dandy property, located on the south and east slope of Raven hill, which is owned principally by Mrs. Hattie E. Woods of Colorado Springs and James M. Wright of Cripple Creek.

It will be several days before the result of the examination is known and it is believed that the examination is being made at the request of James F. Burns, the multimillionaire of Colorado Springs. No other data is obtainable. The Jo Dandy closed down along in July last and a resumption of work has never been made. The Jo Dandy is stated to have large ore bodies and some exceptionally rich ore. The average grade will probably run from $30 to $40 in gold to the ton. The shaft of the Jo Dandy has only been sunk to a depth of 500 feet and it is reported that there is a large amount of ore on each level.

TO DO DEVELOPMENT WORK

Gold Bond Syndicate Sinking Shaft to 500 Feet.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 11.—The Gold Bond Syndicate, a close corporation leasing on the World's Fair claim of the Gold Bond company on the west slope of Gold hill, is now having a station cut at a depth of 400 feet. No attempt at exploitation will be done until the shaft has been sunk to the 500-foot level, when a large amount of development work will be done. The Gold Bond property has produced some rich ore and considerable of it from upper workings, and the management of the Gold Bond syndicate is certain that with depth large and rich ore bodies will be found.

Lessee Austle, who is working at an approximate depth of 250 feet on the Gold Bond, is shipping out several cars of ore a month that will run from two to three ounces. The shoot is not a large one, but Austle has been mining ore from this lease for several years.

INDICATES GREAT RICHES

Statement Issued by Work Company Shows Properties to Be Among Best Money-Makers.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 11.—The official report of the Work Mining & Milling company has just been issued, and shows that the company's properties in the district shipped a total of 1,034 tons of ore of an average value of $75.97 during September, the gross value being $74,708.11. The Little Clara lease shipped 974 tons.

Royalties paid the company during the month amounted to $12,624.74, and the cash on hand October 1 was $37,231.50. A dividend of one cent, amounting to $15,000, is payable October 15. The stock is now selling ex-dividend, the transfer books having closed October 5. It is reported that the Little Clara has in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 in ore in sight.

The estimates made by the newspapers that the average monthly output of the Little Clara is in the proximity of $80,000 per month are seen to be quite near the mark. The extremely high grade of the ore has been doubted in many quarters, being also now verified by the official semiannual report. Ore has been going out at a much greater rate in October, three and four teams of sixes being employed in hauling the ore from the portal of the Ophelia tunnel to the F. & C. C. depot in this city regularly. It is likely that the tonnage will be doubled in October, the grade of the ore remaining the same. It has been stated during the last few days that there is notwithstanding the heavy shipments of ore a great congestion in the bins and in reserve in the stopes, owing to an inability to get the product transported to the railroad cars for shipment. President F. R. Marsh, of the leasing concern, was in the city for several days last week trying to find a solution of the difficulty, and it is said that the Colorado Trading & Transfer company has agreed to furnish enough teams to move the ore without fail. There was a surplus of 300 tons in the bins at one time.

CUSTER COUNTY LEASES BUSY

News From Silver Cliff Indicates General Activity.

SILVER CLIFF, Colo., Oct. 11.—Returns on the last car of King of the Carbonates ore netted the lessees over $400.

Messrs. Brewer and Jordan, leasing on the Racine Boy mine, are sacking some ore of fair grade for shipment. Some samples run beyond 800 ounces of silver to the ton.

Struchlik Bros. have completed a blacksmith shop and tool house on the Prince of the Carbonates claim which they have leased and are now ready for a campaign of development.

Work on the Bismuth mine, under company management, starts auspiciously. The force employed by the late lessees is being retained. From the amount of mine timber being hauled out to the property this week it is evident the company don't intend to be interrupted in its operations of the mine when rough weather comes.

Dr. O. W. Murphy was in the district for a day last week and it is said he will have the Silver Bar mine in operation in 15 days. This property has produced 1,000,000 ounces of silver and, properly worked, should add ten millions more to the world's supply. It is in the rock and only awaiting a proper treatment with cheap mining to make it pay.

Returns From Three Express Wagon Loads from Little Clara, Show Astonishing Results.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 11.—Returns were received today from three express wagon loads of ore from the Little Clara lease. The mineral was sent out last week and the check mailed shows that the ore ran 251 ounces gold, or $5,020 to the ton.

One of the largest veins in the camp has been opened on this property and the grade of ore is extremely high. Hodges & Marsh, lessees, have already made a fortune out of the mine.

CYANIDE MILL FOR LILLIE

Will Have Capacity of 200 to 300 Tons.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 11.—Report has it that J. R. Shipman and R. J. Grant, formerly in control of the Stratton's Independence, limited, are to erect a big cyanide mill, probably between 200 and 300 tons daily capacity, on the Lillie claim of the Vindicator company on Bull hill. There are large ore bodies of low grade ore exposed in the Lillie at depth, and it is presumed that these ore bodies are to be mined and the ore run through the new mill. According to report, a contract has already been let to a Denver machinery company to build the plant.

The Sure Road to Market

Advertising does not increase the value of things, but it finds the "best market" for them.

A particular sort of a horse is not worth any more because he is offered for sale through a Gazette advertisement; BUT HE IS SOLD TO BETTER ADVANTAGE, and for more money.

The advertisement aids in finding the one person to whom the special thing advertised would be of most value; and no matter what the article is, a Gazette want ad. will usually find the "logical buyer," though it means a search of a whole city full.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

Notice is hereby given that at the General Election to be held on the [illegible] of November, A. D. 1906, there will be submitted to the qualified electors of the State of Colorado the question of [illegible] ing the Constitution of said State.

The authority for submitting such question is found in Senate Bill No. 33, which is, in words and figures, following, viz.:

(S. B. No. 33, by Senator Taylor.)

AN ACT

TO SUBMIT TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE STATE OF COLORADO AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION 8 OF ARTICLE 7 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF COLORADO, CONCERNING ELECTIONS AND VOTING MACHINES.

Be it Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:

Section 1. That there shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State of Colorado at the next General Election for members of the General Assembly, for their approval or rejection, the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Colorado, which when ratified by a majority of those voting thereon shall be valid as a part of the Constitution, that is to say:

Section 8 of Article 7 of the Constitution of the State of Colorado shall be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 8. All elections by the people shall be by ballot, and in case paper ballots are required to be used, every ballot shall be numbered in the order in which it shall be received, and the number recorded by the election officers on the list of voters opposite the name of the voter who presents the ballot. The election officers shall be sworn or affirmed not to inquire or disclose how any elector shall have voted. In all cases of contested elections in which paper ballots are required to be used, the ballots cast may be counted and compared with the list of voters, and examined under such safeguards and regulations as may be provided by law. Nothing in this section, however, shall be construed to prevent the use of any machine or mechanical contrivance for the purpose of receiving and registering the votes cast at any election, provided that secrecy in voting be preserved.

When the governing body of any county, city, city and county or town, including the City and County of Denver, and any city, city and county or town which may be governed by the provisions of special charter, shall adopt and purchase a voting machine, or voting machines, such governing body may provide for the payment therefor by the issuance of interest-bearing bonds, certificates of indebtedness, or other obligations, which shall be a charge upon such city, city and county, or town; such bonds, certificates or other obligations may be made payable at such time or times, not exceeding ten years from the date of issue, as may be determined, but shall not be issued or sold at less than par.

Sec. 2. Each elector desiring to vote on such amendment shall deposit in the ballot box a ticket whereon shall be printed the words "For the amendment to Section 8 of Article 7, permitting voting machines," and "Against the amendment to Section 8 of Article 7, permitting voting machines," and shall indicate his approval or rejection of the same by placing a cross opposite one or the other of said groups of words.

Sec. 3. The votes cast for the adoption or rejection of said amendments or either of them, shall be canvassed and the result determined in the manner provided by the laws of the State for the canvass of votes for representatives in Congress.

[illegible]

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Colorado, at the City of Denver, this 24th day of September, A. D. 1906.

"SAW MAN NAMED SMITH"

Only Recollection "Hobo" Has of Parents—Rock Pile Prescribed for His Ailment.

"Harry Smith, who is described by the police as a "typical hobo," is under arrest as a vagrant. Yesterday morning he wandered into the house at 621 South Bal-tic street and made himself at home. He refused to depart when ordered to do so, and the police were notified. He claims that since boyhood he has never slept under a roof, and never ate more than one meal a day, and sometimes not that.

When questioned as to his parentage, he said he was half French and half English, but all the knowledge he had of fatherly protection was that one time when he was a boy he "saw a man by the name of Smith." He claimed to be sick, and was examined by the city physician, who recommended a few days on the rock pile as the medicine best suited to his particular ailment. It is expected he will be given the prescription by the judge at this morning's session of the police court.

TO MAKE EASTERN TRIP

Springs Party Go by Rail and Water to Metropolis.

Henry Russell Wray of the Chamber of Commerce, C. L. Hemming, cashier of the El Paso National bank, and Mrs. Hemming, will leave Saturday for a two-weeks tour through the east. They will travel by rail to Galveston, Tex., and from there by steamer to New York. From New York the party will go to Philadelphia, where Mr. Wray will meet his wife, who is at present in the east. They will visit many of the principal cities before returning to the Springs.

LEST WE

forget—Baby is restless, can't sleep at night, won't eat, cries spasmodically. A bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge never fails to cure. Every mother should give her baby White's Cream Vermifuge. So many times when the baby is pale and fretful, the mother does not know what to do. A bottle of this medicine would bring color to his cheeks and laughter to his eyes. Give it a trial.
